

16 - Guitar Worship - 16

Lesson 16 – Starting to play by ear, worshipping from your heart without the book and more key switching.

- Pick your favorite song of the songs you already learned to play.
- If the words are simple and you know them by heart, lay your notes to the side and start playing the song using the chords that go with the song.
If it is a larger song, memorize 1 or 2 verses and keep repeating those verses when you play by ear.
- Listen carefully when you need to change chords. That is when the chord doesn't sound right anymore. Then you find the chord to change to.
That way you train your inward ear and learn to automatically change to the right chord when you need to change chords.
- When you feel you are getting good with the song:
Close your eyes and see if you can find the chords without looking at your fingers.
If not, peek for a moment and try it again.
You will start being more sensitive for Holy Spirit and worshipping from your heart gets easier.
  - 1 - You hear the words better.
  - 2 – You train your inward ear.
  - 3 – Holy Spirit can Guide you easier in your worship.
- The more songs you learn to play by ear, the better.
- When you are used to playing by ear, you will also be able to easily change keys.

YES! PLAY BY EAR AND LET YOUR HEART FREELY WORSHIP THE LORD

- In the next song you will change keys, going from the key of D to the key of E.
The second song goes from the key of C to the key of D.
The third song will have a key change inside as part of the song.
- When using more than one key in a song, each key will use their own basic set of chords, namely 1,4,5.
- Usually when transferring to a different key when repeating the song or when going to the next verse or chorus in a song, the key will be the next key higher up.
- You can always change the key when a song written in a key is hard to sing because it is too high or too low, or when someone you play with uses a different key.
- Try to transfer more songs that you like from one key to another key, so you get familiar with it.
